

Recd
Oct. 7

Near Quincy, Fla. July 24. 1842

My Dear Sir

Your letter of April last has been on file for a long time - I have not been able to reply before having been mostly absent from home - Of the Stora sent me I have not been able to dispose of but two copies although when ordered there were five or six engaged in conformity to the schedule sent out by Dr Torrey & yourself before you transferred the work to your publishers Two of the individuals flew off in consequence of the increase of price & the rest from the paucity of the times - Of the four copies unsold I will make whatever disposition may be deemed advisable - If there appeared any prospect of better times I should think that as they are safely here it would be the best plan to let them remain a while longer - But unless otherwise directed I will send them to Wright next winter For the remaining two copies I will settle at the same time Of course you need not in future send but two ~~copies~~ ^{nos.} of the remaining part of the work

I suppose that you are hammering away at the Stora - It turns out to be a most unpropitious time for those most interested in its publication

I am all anxiety to see the 2^d No of II Root Mr Curtis informs me that you have a Prinosia Chapmani in it - I suppose it is that plant we have called a Leindelia. ~~But~~ In looking over your account of Liata, I do not find any mention of one which has always appeared to me a good species, & which I have usually distributed doubtfully as L. resinosa.

I have done nothing in the way of Botany this season - My hands have been tied with other business I however accidentally met with the Ruellia hemistrata, W. which to my knowledge has not been seen since the time of the old Frenchman It is a new kin to R. oblongifolia with much smaller flowers than any other American species

I remain

As ever

Truly Yours

A. N. Chapman

W^{ts} I sent you a small package early last spring & one for each of the Cary's

25-

Dr. J. A. Gray

Dr. J. A. Gray

~~New York City~~

Care Little & Brown
Boston

